

Join us in beautiful Victoria, British Columbia, for the 37th annual SIGUCCS Management Symposium. Come share and learn as you interact with friends and colleagues from other higher education institutions. Build and renew long-lasting professional relationships. Enhance your management and leadership skills and strategies in an energizing yet relaxing environment.

IT: A Beacon for Innovation and Growth

This symposium focuses on topics relevant to IT decision-makers such as CIOs, directors, managers, project and team leaders, and staff on leadership tracks. Share your management experiences, ideas, and innovative approaches and perspectives to new or ongoing challenges. Lead a thought-provoking discussion on emerging issues for IT management affecting all IT organizations.

The Symposium consists of three tracks:

- ◆ Leadership, Management, and Professional Development Strategies
- ◆ Strategic Planning, Collaborations and Enriching Services
- ◆ Innovation: Options, Implementations and Technical Solutions

How to Participate

Submit an abstract for either a:

- ◆ Presentation with facilitated discussion
 - concise 60 minutes
 - in-depth 90 minutes
- ◆ Panel with facilitated discussion
 - concise 60 minutes
 - in-depth 90 minutes

Abstracts should be 150 to 300 words and will be reviewed for clarity, relevance to IT management in higher education, professionalism, as well as strategy for facilitating discussion. Use the web form at the URL listed below to submit abstracts.

Your abstract will be included in the printed program. Following the symposium, we ask that you provide presentation files for posting to the symposium web site.

Vendors may be invited by a higher education presenter or panelist to participate in a presentation or panel but not as a stand-alone vendor presentation. Vendor sponsorships are welcome and sponsoring vendors are invited to an evening reception with vendor exhibits -- details are available on the symposium web site.
